RECIPIENTS OF BOOK DISPATCH [REDACTED] (ACTION REQUIRED) Please make corrections immediately on all copies at Hqs.

A file listing of this nature is a very difficult item to originate without the possibility of errors. It has been checked to the best of the originator's ability against previous records which in certain instances have been incorrect almost from the start. It is the objective of the originator to make this listing completely accurate. It would be appreciated if each recipient would review it with scrutiny for errors and bring them to the attention of the originator immediately [REDACTED] x6328, CA/RAO, #D010925X1A9a

The cryptonym spellings are not checked at each publication with RID/CR. Many are long used cryptonyms and known through daily use in their correct spelling. A few through evolution of use and typographical errors have been brought to my attention. These were misspelled in previous editions of this publication and not brought to the originators attention until this publication was distributed. It is difficult to make corrections with such wide distribution. Once I am sure all offices have notified me, I will attempt to have a blanket correction made to all recipients, should it be necessary before the next publication or further development is made regarding the machine conversion mentioned in the dispatch.

Below are certain corrections that have been brought to my attention to date. Please have each recipient in Headquarters make these corrections on their respective copies.

CORRECTION: U/S/C IDEN LIST 3, page 2 of 3, Iden number 47; Strike out the word in parenthesis. Without a detailed explanation of circumstances, this word proves to be too conclusive. Any office working with this activity will understand circumstances involved. All field copies have been changed.

crypt spelling to [REDACTED] Those offices preparing correspondence have used the correct spelling. A typographical error in an old file listing the originator was given to work from has made this crypt appear incorrectly spelled in previous Bk Disp. issuances. It went unnoticed until now. Since no other [REDACTED] crypt has been issued with similar spelling, there has been no problem of identity arise from this error. 25X1A

Also LIST 3, page 5, file number [REDACTED]: This crypt 25X1A
[REDACTED] is correct, however, offices preparing correspondence have been using the crypt spelled with the omission of the "O". This error also has not created any serious problems of identity to date.

Originators should make note of the correct spelling, however, in future correspondence. One more typographical error in this crypt might make a difference in future identity.

HEREWITH LIST 3, page 6, file number [REDACTED] This is the corrected spelling of [REDACTED] appeared in previous issuances as [REDACTED] through a typographical error in the old file list mentioned above. Correspondence was not checked to see if it was used correctly therein.

An exceptional example of typographical error right from the date of issuance was the crypt [REDACTED] LIST 4a, page 2 and 3. This was originally issued as [REDACTED] by the [REDACTED]. It was disseminated and used as [REDACTED] on such a widespread basis that the simplest way to correct it was to cancel [REDACTED] in [REDACTED] Cryptic Reference Cards and ask RID/CR to check their crypt cards. RID/CR had not previously used the crypt [REDACTED] and were willing to record it as assigned to this activity. No major corrective notification was necessary either in Headquarters or the Field.

In view of the fact that Staffs and Area Divisions are assigned a diagraph for which we all use the same dictionaries to invent the remainder of the crypt, there will always be the possibility that two or more offices will use the same dictionary word preceded by their respective diagraph. It is essential that for this reason anytime an individual notices a possible misspelling in a crypt that it be checked against the official cryptic reference cards and corrective action be taken if necessary before the mistake becomes too widespread. Under present procedures a typographical error, especially in a diagraph, might send action correspondence to the wrong action addressee.

Any comments you may have regarding the format used or file use instructions provided may also be directed to the originator. This listing is meant to assist those needing it as a reference and any comments or recommendations in its format are welcome.
